"The University of Montana--- It Must Prosper"

DR. CRAIG.

DR. MELVIN A. BRANNON,
Chancellor; University of Montana

The Chancellor

THE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA is fortunate in having as its new Chancellor a man of the experience, ability, and character of Dr. Melvin A. Brannon. He has worked for twenty-three years in the Northwest, and hence has an intimate knowledge of Montana; in fact, he came very near being a member of the first faculty at the State University in 1895, when Webster Merrifield, then president of the University of North Dakota, was offered the presidency and was asked to bring some of his staff with him to Montana.

Dr. Brannon likes Montana, and his fondness for the West was strong enough to pull him away from Beloit, Wis., back to what he considers his real home.

After graduating from Wabash College and teaching for four years, he went to the University of North Dakota as professor of Biology in 1894. While in North Dakota he not only became Dean of the College of Arts, but built up the School of Medicine, placed among the first twelve by the American Association of Medical Colleges, a public health laboratory, and a state biological station on the shores of Devil's Lake, the second largest salt lake in the United States.

He was brought to Idaho by Dr. Edward O. Sisson, former president of the State University of Montana, as president of the University of Idaho in 1914. Here he remained for three and a half years. It was during that time that he formed many intimate relationships with Montana, and with many of the older members of the University, notably with Professors Scheuch and Elrod.

In 1917 he became president of Beloit University, so that he has had the benefit of the direction not only of a state university but of that of a privately endowed college. He has already made a great many new friends in Montana, especially in Helena, in Missoula, Bozeman, Butte, and Dillon. He has made it his field of activity to weld the alumni of the State Institutions into an effective body to act as the interpreters of the Greater University to the people of the Treasure State. He has already demonstrated his ability to co-operate with the presidents of the four institutions, and he has done a great deal to make the public realize that the University of Montana is their institution, and its success depends very largely upon their support.

THE NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

By Lawton Beckwith

Since the last issue of the "Alumnus" much work has been done toward raising funds for the Athletic Field pledged to the University by the alumni last fall. A corporation called "The Alumni-Challenge Athletic Field Corporation" has been incorporated under the Montana laws to "receive, purchase, own, pledge, hold, sell, convey, deliver and invest and incumber gifts of real and personal property" for the purpose of constructing the Athletic Field. The officers and trustees of the corporation are:

D. D. Richards, '12, President; J. B. Speer, '08, Secretary; George R. Shepard, '21, Treasurer; Trustees, D. D. Richards, Tom Busha, C. F. Farmer, W. L. Murphy, G. R. Shepard, J. B. Speer and C. H. Clapp.

Plans for the field have been drawn up. They provide for a football gridiron, baseball diamond, running track, skating rink, concrete tennis courts, volley ball courts, handball courts, women's hockey field, women's baseball diamonds, women's basketball courts, women's concrete tennis courts and women's track. The grandstand will have a capacity of 10,000 with space available for expansion to 25,000 when expansion is needed.

The field is to occupy all space between the new gym and the new heating plant. This location is ideal, as it makes possible the use of Mount Sentinel as one side of a stadium. When completed, the field will be a great bowl, with grandstand on the west side, the gym on the south, and the foot of the mountain, upon which grandstand seats will be built on the east. The north end of the track will ultimately be enclosed by extending the east side grandstand in a curve parallel to the track, thus forming the north side of the bowl.

The baseball diamond will be situated on the site of the old football field, batting north. Special bleachers are provided for the baseball fans. The tennis and handball courts are to be south of the new gym on either side of the swimming-pool wing. The women's field and courts are to be north and east of the original gymnasium, which is now the women's gym.

Active work has been carried on during the past two months in getting subscriptions from alumni living in Missoula. Circulars were sent out giving a description of the field with a sketch showing its location and salient points. A meeting of Missoula alumni was held in the gym after a basketball game to discuss the plans for the field. The books were opened for subscriptions at that time (January 20th) and the first subscriptions were made immediately after the meeting. The fund was headed by a subscription of $500 by W. G. Long, '16, who wired: "My personal conviction is that while we owe Montana more than can be measured in money, our appreciation may be measured to some extent by the financial sacrifice we are willing to assume in this time of need. Count me in for five hundred."

To date (March 22) $3,500 has been subscribed, all by alumni and former students residing in Missoula with the exception of Mr. Long's subscription. There are still a considerable number of subscriptions in Missoula which have been made out but have not yet been entered upon the treasurer's books.

The total number of subscriptions thus far received is 83; the largest, $500, the smallest $5.00, the average $42.00. It is estimated that if each alumnus will subscribe $40.00, the fund of $40,000 will be complete. Some of the alumni do not feel able to give this amount; some can and have given much larger amounts. However, it is certain that every alumnus of the University cannot but feel that a gift of this small size is but a trifle compared to the great personal value of his University days.

There have been many heated discussions between various alumni regarding the plans for the proposed field. Of course, all agree that they are going to help build it. The corporation's by-laws provide that each subscriber to the Athletic field fund shall have one vote for each $10 subscribed by him. This plan was adopted so that the field would be what the alumni decided it should be. Those who give the most will have the greater voting power in deciding how the field is to be built.

The following figures show how the alumni in Missoula are taking up the funds campaign. The percentage of the total number of Missoula resident alumni of each class and of each organization who have subscribed is listed below.

Within a short time circulars will be sent out to all the alumni of the University and details of the plan under which subscriptions are being taken will be given in letters accompanying the circulars. It is the earnest desire of the men who are giving their time and effort to raising the funds for the new field, that the subscription campaign be carried through to a successful conclusion at a very early date so that construction work can be begun. A great part of the heavy construction work can be completed this summer if funds are made available.

FACULTY NOTES

Music Majors are to be permitted to receive the Bachelor of Arts degree from the College of Arts and Sciences. The next catalog of the University will contain the announcement.

The 25% D grade ruling has been modified by a new regulation thoroughly consistent with the present University policy of raising scholarship standards. It requires that (1) every candidate for a degree must specify the credits of passing grade which he proposes to offer to the exact number required for the degree; and (2) upon these specified credits he must have a number of grade points at least equal to the number of credits.

A new "honor roll regulation" provides that a student shall be eligible for the honor roll in any quarter provided (1) he have no grade of "E" (Condition) or "F" (Failure) and no credit deduction for absence; and (2) he shall have at least 33 grade points for the quarter.

The high school honor scholarships may in the future be retained only on condition that the students do creditable work in the University.

More upper classmen finish their work at the University of Montana. Out of the 1,491 students registered, 11 per cent are seniors and 14 per cent juniors. The figures last year were 9 and 13 respectively.

THE MONTANA LEGISLATURE

The Legislature of 1923 did what was prophesied last fall; it left the University of Montana with only the mill and a half tax, excluding such miscellaneous sources of income as that derived from student fees, from the Federal land grants and from Federal appropriation, as its sole source of income; that is, the appropriations for the University were cut far below the amount estimated as the minimum necessary to carry the minimum load that it would be asked to undertake. The appropriation for the State University was cut from $1,083,000 to $840,000, which represents a slight decrease over the amount that will have to be spent for the fiscal biennium, ending June 30, 1923.

The policy was accepted that the quality of the work done at the various institutions should not be sacrificed, but not so much work could be undertaken as they would be asked to do.

It was unfortunate that in the Appropriation Act the maximum amounts which each institution could spend were fixed, so that the incentive for carrying on self-supporting activities was removed. However, as it has been argued in the past that the institutions are entitled to expend their miscellaneous sources of income which depend either upon the federal government or upon the institutions' own initiative, and that these should not be subject to legislative appropriation; the bill was amended on the last day of the session so as to exclude self-supporting activities from the provision of the act.

The only other bill affecting the University was a proposed amendment to the Constitution, providing for the establishment of three funds to be built up through endowment; one of a hundred million dollars for the maintenance of the state; one of five hundred for the maintenance of the schools; and one of a hundred millions to support the University of Montana. On first blush it would seem that these are entirely beneficial measures, but it is believed that there is danger that money needed at the present time might be diverted from use by being placed in such a fund, which could not possibly be built up within fifty years.

Attempts were made to discontinue the office of the Chancellor, by the introduction of bills both into the House and into the Senate, but both were defeated.

THE CLASS SECRETARIES

Early in January, the secretaries were appointed out of each class to act, so to speak, as the hostesses at the quarterly gathering of the clans in the Class Notes columns of THE ALUMNUS. The first party has been a stupendous success. There is more chatty, informal, authentic information about the alumni in this month's issue than has been seen in any Alumnus publication.

First "Sons of Montana Alumni" to enter the University turn out to be girls. They are the daughters of Lillian Jordan Bendon, A. B. Literature, '03. Their names are Mary and Dorothy, born in 1905 and 1907, respectively. They are graduating this spring, one from Sidney High School, the other from Dawson County, and will enter the University for the fall quarter.

---

The literary productions of the University of Montana rank third in the United States, according to the estimate of the publication, "College Anthology for 1921-1922." Lloyd Thompson's "If I Should Go," published in the Frontier is printed in the Anthology. Honorable mention was awarded to Mary Elizabeth Doerr, '22; Gwendoline Keene, '21; Wilda Linderman, '20; Adalouie McAllister, '22; Homer M. Parsons, '21; Jack Stone, '23.

PROGRESS OF THE BUILDINGS

GYMNASIUM

Each department of the gymnasium has been used as soon as finished. It is now fully occupied, the swimming pool having been opened at the beginning of the spring quarter. The old gymnasium is turned over to the women's physical education work.

FORESTRY

Classes are now held in the completed building, and offices installed. It is the second of the buildings to be put to use. The old building now houses the language department.

LIBRARY

The stacks are finished, and documents and books are being installed, and much of the decorative work has been done.

RESIDENCE HALLS

The girls who come from the state high schools for Interscholastic will be housed in the Women's Dormitory, which is nearing completion. The men's hall will be practically completed at that time, but fixtures will not be in place to accommodate guests.

THE HEATING PLANT

"Classes are out," said the Chief at the Heating Plant.

The Heating Plant is at the mouth of Hellgate Canyon, and the Main Hall is hidden by trees and buildings from the view of the Plant. But they don't tell by the appearance of the students on the Campus. They look at the steam indicators. So accurately is the heat regulated that the opening of the doors after classes in the various buildings about the campus is apparent by the drop in the steam pressure at the plant.

Every operation of the plant is carefully checked; the coal is weighed as it goes into the stokers; the steam given out from the plant is metered, and the amount of water that goes into the boilers is metered and the temperature recorded.

The stokers are 72% efficient, operating at 180% rating. No smoke comes from the chimney; there is no dirt, dust or excess heat inside the plant. All the pipes are covered with insulation and in cold weather it will be necessary to put heat coils in the building to make it comfortable to work in.

The steam exhaust from the engines necessary to run the plant is all utilized; the exhaust from the turbine is run into the heating mains to be used about the campus, and that from the engines is used to heat the water for the boiler.

From 17 to 25 tons of coal are required every day to heat the buildings. This is weighed and fed automatically into the stokers. An elevator, consisting of an endless chain with small buckets attached, lifts the coal into the hopper, which has a 75-ton storage capacity.

Few comparisons are available, because the old plant had no checking system. Last year's figures on expense show that it cost $5.36 per day to heat 1,000 sq. ft. of radiation during the month of February; this year for the same month the cost was $2.88. The careful checking prevents waste, and the high efficiency of the stokers permits the use of low-grade coal which is purchased at a low price. To increase the heating day from 18 to 24 hours and more than double the radiation, required the addition of but two men to the staff. The cost of evaporating 1,000 lbs. of water to steam at 125 lbs. pressure, is 50 to 55 cents, as compared with the charge throughout the state in commercial plants of approximately $1.25.

Last year 24,150 sq. ft. of radiation were used in the various buildings; when the new structures are completed and everything connected up, there will be 70,000 sq. ft.

ATHLETICS

Bulletins for Interscholastic have gone out, and entry blanks will be mailed early in April. At a meeting of the central committee it was decided to divide the state into districts for the purpose of accommodating the 130 high schools that will participate in the meet this year. A district manager was appointed to have charge of organizing the counties.

A new feature of this year's program is the bringing to the meet of all the winners of the districts for the tryouts in debate. This is a very big undertaking, involving seven or eight teams of three debaters each instead of four teams of two each, as in previous years.

The program:

Debate: Tryouts, Wednesday forenoon; finals, Wednesday night; April 9.

Declamation: Tryouts, Thursday forenoon; finals, Thursday night.

Track: Semi-finals, Thursday afternoon; finals, Friday afternoon.

Awarding of Medals, Friday night, in the High School Auditorium.

George Varnell, Sports Editor of the Spokane Chronicle, will act as starter for the events. Dudley Richards of Missoula, as Clerk of the Course.

In basketball, the State University team did not make a showing that will cause this year's team to be remembered for any particular thing, unless it is that the style of play was changed radically and a good showing made, all handicaps considered.

The team made a total of 395 points during the year playing a total of 21 games. Opponents in the 21 games made a total of 521 points.

The university men were victorious in eight of the games.

Mount St. Charles team was the first one met in the season and was defeated by a score of 24 to 14, and Mount St. Charles was the last team met in the season and the State University was defeated 27 to 11. This gives some idea of how things went. Injuries and inability to play caused some of the best men to be out of the grind at the end of the season.

One of the outstanding things of the season was the statement made by Coach J. W. Stewart in the Kaimin regarding the student body and the support that was given the team. The coach felt that the student body was willing to support a winning team only and when a few reverses were met the support was withdrawn. This, the coach declared, had its effect on the team and to one not directly connected with the institution this seemed to be true. At all events, the spirit of the team and the student body seemed to sag terribly about the middle of the season.

As usual, Montana maintained its record for sportsmanship in the conference games. No conference teams were defeated, but the university went after them just the same and held up its end. There was no "backing out;" there was no "crabbing" because the conference teams were better. The university did its best; did all it could; got beat and liked it. That spirit of Montana has done much to maintain our place in the Northwest conference.

The track outlook is rather good. There are several men out who have done well in past years and who are expected to do well again. However, because of the late spring it is impossible to give any definite lineup as to track possibilities. The State University has the heaviest track sched-

PERSONALITIES

TOM C. BUSHA, '17

President of the Alumni Association

This is the man under whose active leadership the Association is rapidly becoming a vital force in University and State affairs. Tom Busha has carried out the promise of a successful under-graduate career by finding himself in a position of responsibility and importance. Upon his graduation, with two degrees, in 1920, he entered the Rehabilitation work, of which he is now Sub-District Manager of the United States Veterans' Bureau, with jurisdiction over the State of Montana. The Bureau has a staff of eighty people and deals with about nine thousand men.

Mr. Busha was married last year to Miss Harriet Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Sanders of Helena, and granddaughter of the late Colonel Wilbur F. Sanders of pioneer history.

His home is in Helena.

FROM THE SOUTH SEAS

Quaint superstitions and fabulous tales of "enchanters' children" give variety and spice to the English classes of Margaret Wickes, in Manila. Although most of the girls of the Ellinwood School are Christians, they still cling to the fables of their childhood. A splendid musical organization; an American Women's University Club; a Little Theater; a Union Protestant Church; movies, with the stories in English, Spanish and French; band concerts by the famous Manila band; beautiful drives and fine people from all parts of the world—all these make Manila a splendid city to live in. Among the fine people Miss Wickes meets is Florence Dixon Leach, who lives only three blocks away.

FREDERICKS IS EDITOR OF STEAMSHIP'S DAILY

Robert (Boob) Fredericks, former journalism student at the University, is now editor of the daily paper published on the steamship President Jefferson of the Admiral Line, P. S. S. Co., which sailed on January 26th. The ship will put in at Victoria, Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila.

Mr. Fredericks has the best of accommodations and lives with the ship's officers. He will publish the ship news, the radio and wireless dispatches.

Mr. Fredericks is a veteran of the World War, and since then has worked on various papers, among them the St. Louis Dispatch, the Butte Post, and the Post Intelligencer of Seattle.

A GREAT AND COLORFUL COUNTRY—ALASKA

Katherine Wilson. '01, of New York, California, Washington and Europe, is in Alaska gathering local color and material for more fiction. She figured in the literature of the early days of the University, editor-in-chief of the Kaimin, on the staff of the first Alumnus and class poet; on leaving the University she became connected with the literary life of New York, on the staff of the New York Times and of Harper's Bazaar. Her adventures in "that most harassing of careers, writing," carried her from one end of the continent to another, to Europe and back, and now into the far north. A country full of inspiration and interest to the fiction writer, she says of Alaska, where one measures the time by "boats" instead of by calendars. She has within the past year met with Lu Knowles Maxey, George Greenwood and Ben Stewart, and counted it not the least of her adventures to connect up again with the old days in Montana.

THE WONDERFUL CLASS OF "FIRSTS"

Classes did not exist as "classes" prior to the wonderful class of "firsts." That's how 1904 happened to inaugurate a greater number of things than any class before or since. They came out in flaming red caps in Junior year, and insisted on being a class. It engineered the first Sentinel; edited the class book; held the first "Singing on the Steps" (that was the year Robert Sibley came); started Sigma Chi and Kappa Kappa Gamma, and the first two honor societies; first and only class to give a class prize; first to give a junior prom, and now, it has the first alumnus to deliver the Commencement address. The honored man is George Greenwood, one of the chief factors of the class achievements of 1904.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF HOME- COMING COMMITTEE

The Homecoming Committee has a balance of $245.77, which T. C. Spaulding, Chairman of the Committee, hopes will be retained to help finance the next Homecoming in 1924. The tag sale and admissions to the big final event in the new gymnasium amounted to $575. Expenditures were as follows: Prizes, $50.00; printing and stationery, $233.06; labor, $11.04; miscellaneous expense, including telegrams, expenses for parade, etc., $42.55. There was a net balance from the Homecoming dinner of $7.42.

A FORESTER IN THE PHILIPPINES

Placido Dacanay, '20, returned to the Philippines last year after a year in Harvard, and was appointed Forester-in-Charge of Reforestation Projects of the Bureau of Forestry. After some months spent in inspecting the reforestation areas and outlining the policy for the Bureau of Forestry, he was appointed Assistant Professor of Silviculture at the Forest School of the University of the Philippines.

Varsity Vodvil was said to be artistically the best ever. It netted the A. S. U. M. $644.76.

OUR ADVERTISERS

Turn to our advertising columns which are a new feature with this issue. Note the liberal support THE ALUMNUS is receiving from professional men and business firms. Professional cards of alumni and also of the contractors of the new University buildings are special features of the advertising section.

THE CLASSES

1898

Secretary, Mrs. Ella Robb Glenney, 3221 Emerson Ave., So., Minneapolis.

1899

Secretary, Mrs. Sidney Ward (Zoe Bellew), Hamilton, Montana.

Professor William H. Harkins of the University of Chicago, has made a new electrical discovery. He constructed an apparatus which makes it possible to photograph the track of an atom. Mr. Harkins was head of the Chemistry department at Montana State University from 1900 to 1912, and is the husband of Louise Hathaway, '99.

1900

Secretary, Charles Avery, Durston Bldg., Anaconda.

1902

Secretary, Guy E. Sheridan, 818 West Galena St., Butte.

Edith Watson Keel is living at 529 East Mercury St., Butte.

1903

Secretary, Mrs. Harriet Rankin Sedman, Dean of Women of the State University.

1904

Secretary, Roxy Howell Derge, 901 W. Copper St., Butte.

Page Bunker is located at College Station, as State Forester. Two of his children are in Boston, the boy attending English High School, and the girl studying art. Louise, the third and oldest, graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music in 1918, in the violin soloist course. She then went to Germany and is now concertizing in Europe. Page is surely to be congratulated on his family.

The class of 1904 has always been proud of the "firsts" for which they are responsible, such as first annual, first class book, and many others. We now have another: George Greenwood is the first alumnus to be asked to deliver the Commencement address. We consider this some honor!

Evelyn Polleys Mason, after living the nomadic life demanded by the forest service for several years, is now most happily settled in her own home at Portland Oregon. She may be reached at 509 Myrtle St.

Roxy Howell Derge is at 901 W. Copper St., Butte. Three small University prospects occupy her time.

1906

Fred E. Buck has been appointed by the executive committee of the Alumni Association, as Secretary for the class of 1906, for the ensuing year. The purpose is to obtain "more class notes for the Alumnus." Fred says he wrote every member of the class and only three replies were received. Before the next issue, he wants a letter from every one of 1906. The letters will afterwards be pinned together and mailed in "round robin" fashion to each member so they may read the details.

Grace Flynn is again teaching in Missoula after a vacation and rest of five months on the coast. Grace lost her mother last March from pneumonia. Miss Flynn saw the Montana-Washington football game in Seattle and the Montana-Gonzaga game in Spokane. She visited Jessie Bishop Giboney, '05, who lives at Three Tree Point on Puget Sound, 16 miles from Seattle. Grace says, "Jessie's home surroundings are ideal; Mrs. Giboney has three children, the youngest being 1½ years old." Also, Grace adds, "more class notes in the Alumnus are very welcome."

Ona M. Sloan is now Educational Director of the Bon Marche store, one of the largest establishments on the coast. She has supervision over the salespeople, cash registers, rest rooms, gives instructions on salesmanship, and in another month will have charge of the cafeteria in addition. Sadie Schmalhausen Ward, ex-'05, is also at the Bon Marche. Ona says Seattle has a Missoula Club which gave a Montana picnic last summer; 2,000 Montanans were present.

Maud Burns Hoefer writes from her home at Dixon, Illinois, that "she has little to say, but is still much alive." Her husband is in the coal business and also has the agency for the Lexington car. They have one child, a daughter, Jane, three years old last October. A year ago Maud and Jane spent the summer with Mrs. Burns in Long Beach, California. Besides seeing many other Montana friends, she visited Florence Ervey, '07, and Gil Heyfron at Hollywood. Maud often sees Mrs. Conibear, ex-Coach "Connie's" wife, and daughter, who live at Dixon. Maud "enjoys the Alumnus," and says "she is coming back some day, but believes she will hardly know the place; here's hoping for a bigger and better University."

Margaret Summers, '06, has been in the real estate business for some time in Portland, Oregon, and finds it both "interesting and profitable." She spent last summer at Tillamook and Cannon Beaches. She is "now busy buying a new Studebaker sedan and contemplating a drive to California this summer." Margaret is one of the 5,000 members of the Montana Society in Portland. Once a month they have a program and dance. She often sees Lawrence Grady and family, also Oral J. Berry, an ex-football star at the U. about 1906. A letter to her from Jessie Robb Lynch, '06, says her little boy was seriously hurt recently. Margaret adds, "I enjoy the personal notes."

1907

Secretary, King Garlington, 630 Eddy Ave., Missoula.

Stella Duncan Maloy is living at 22 Blogden St., Boston. She is buying for one of the Boston stores. She took her B. S. from Simmons College in 1921.

1908

Secretary, Winnifred Feighner, Assistant Librarian, State University.

1909

Secretary, Ida Cunningham Bush, 322 Blaine St., Missoula.

Mrs. H. O. Bragg (Mary Rankin) has been appointed instructor of English in the Los Angeles High School at San Pedro, California.

Mrs. C. A. Popkin (Bess Bradford) is president of the Sapulpa, Oklahoma, branch of the A. A. U. W.

Charles has a lovely wife and a young son, Chas., Jr., over a year old.

Annabel Acker married Wm. Cookson in May.

Verne and Wilda Linderman of Kalispell, are spending the winter with their parents at Santa Barbara, Calif.

Gladys Shindler is teaching in a business college in Portland.

"Blackie" Dawe spent five months in service in 1918, attending Presidio at San Francisco; later transferred to S. A. T. C. at Missoula; got Ph. G. in March, 1919; is and has been employed in Jensen's Montana Street Pharmacy, Butte. "With the exception of a 'night' or two now and then, I have found very little excitement. Once or twice a year I enjoy a call at Missoula, especially at Homecoming. I have not made a million dollars, nor have I been united in matrimony with any 'fair one,' as have many of our former school associates."

Merle C. Gallagher is the youngest principal of Senior high schools in the State of Minnesota. Hers is the High School at Detroit, Minn., a school which enrolled 415 this semester, in its four-year course. It has a faculty of eighteen members; is located in the heart of the Minnesota Lake region, a "play-ground surpassed only by Western Montana in summer months."

P. Dick Stone (this news is contributed by his wife): "Has been reviewing books, mostly fiction, for the Bookman, constantly now for over two years. Reads from five to eight books of theirs a week. John Farrar, Editor of the Bookman, considers him exceptional for so young a person. For the New York Evening Post he is at present reviewing bibliographies and essays; some are to be signed. During Emil Coue's trip in America, P. Dick travelled with him for the New York World, and wrote special stories for the N. Y. Evening Mail. Just sold a special article to the Pictorial Review."

1919

Secretary, Barbara Fraser, Box 85, Livingston.

Grace Armstrong is teaching at Bridger, Montana, and expects to attend summer school at the University of California.

Chester L. Baldwin is principal of the Circle Schools at Circle, Montana.

Florence Benson (permanent address Floodwood, Minnesota. She is at present teaching in the High School at Bear Creek, Montana. She is taking advantage of the plan of attending four summer school sessions at Columbia, which enables one to procure a Master's Degree. This summer will be her third one.

Ruth Davis—now teaching History in the Missoula County High School.

Helen Jillette, at present at Prescott,

Arkansas, in American Red Cross work. She writes: "My work is itinerant. I am a sort of hybrid of social work, nurse, and home economics teacher. I have my work in the schools, and follow this up with work in the homes. It is very interesting, and sufficiently nomadic to satisfy even my disposition. We are now planning work on the three-year program basis. That brings the work into the country everywhere, and allows sufficient time to see some result. As we do that, our work becomes more permanent and at the end of three years the community will, we think, see the value and employ a permanent worker, whether nutrition or nurse; and the work will pass entirely out of the hands of the Red Cross."

Jack Hill writes that he, and others of Dr. Jesse's former dogs, have deserted the noble science of chemistry to become mere pedagogues. He is teaching Science, Mathematics and Athletics, at the Geraldine High Schol. Geraldine, Montana.

From Jack Hill I learned that George Turcott is also teaching at Hinsdale, Montana; and I also learned that Edna Montgomery is now back in Illinois doing some graduate work.

Lysle Hodson is teaching Science and Mathematics in the Baker High School, Baker, Montana. He intends to go to summer school at the University of Montana next summer.

Morse Hoiles is at present the business manager of the "New Northwest."

to the members of the class. Out of the sixty who had responded by February 15, it is interesting to note that 18 are teaching, five are in some branch of forestry, five are in law, five are pharmacists, four are in journalism.

Elsie Holloman has been teaching English, Latin and History in the Toston High School since Christmas.

Ruth James spent a recent week at Missoula. She is teaching Science and Home Economics and coaching girls' basketball in Corvallis.

Reba Houck is teaching English and Music in the Paradise High school. She also has a class of sixteen music pupils. She plans to resume her study of piano and pipe-organ in Chicago next fall.

Elizabeth Wickes is teaching Latin, Home Economics and Science in Plains. She recently gave several lectures on nutrition at the special dairy school held there.

Mary Vedder is having an interesting time teaching in the Crow Agency Schools, as half of her pupils are Indians.

Leroy (Joe) Kershner, who has been working on the Anaconda Bureau of the Butte Miner since last December, is now reporting for the Daily Missoulian.

Hyle Jones is cashier of the First State Bank at Bynum, Montana. He plans to enter the University of Chicago Law School within the next year or two.

Helen Gregory has been visiting in New York, Washington and Dayton, Ohio, for the past few months. After March 1, she will be associated with her mother in the Gregory-Mason Shop in Billings.

Kelsey Smith is manager of the J. N. McCracken Company, Helena.

Jim Dorsey, who is traveling for an investment firm out of Seattle, was in Billings recently.

Everton Poindexter, ex. is working for an M. A. at Columbia.

Raymond Nagle went to Helena with the Legislature as keeper of the House Journal. During the session he went before the Supreme Court and was admitted to the bar. At the close of the session he hung out his shingle, holding forth in the office of Mr. Walsh, with whom he is associated in many cases, largely as a matter of experience. Ed Bailey kept the Journal for the Senate.

Dorothy "Pi" Moore is teaching in the Lewiston, Idaho, High School.

John L. Morris is principal of the Plevna High School. He plans to enter the State University of Illinois next fall, but writes that he intends to send his small son, John, Jr., to the University of Montana some day.

Muriel Harner is teaching in the Clinton High School.

Inez Tiedt is teaching Home Economics and Mathematics in the Wibaux County High School.

George A. Strong is Vice Principal and head of the Science department in the Pocatello, Idaho, High School.

Bill Wilson is teaching in the Frenchtown High School. He plans to do graduate work in Modern Languages at Harvard next fall.

Clarence B. May, originally of the class of '16, has been principal of the Hinsdale public school for the past four years.

Sylvia Bakkeby is in the Moccasin High School teaching English, Latin and History.

Clarence E. Moore has been assistant in the Botany department at the State University since the first of the year, being in charge of instruction in Vocational Botany. He expects to complete his research work for an M. A. in Botany and eventually to work for a Ph. D. in Botany, probably at Harvard.

Paul Smith is one of the Representatives of Lewis and Clark County in the State Legislature. At the end of the Legislative session he will continue the practice of law in his father's office in Helena.

Eugene Harpole has opened a law office in Superior. He writes that Earl P. Dirmeyer, of '21, is an insurance representative there and Bessie Kelly, an M. A. graduate of '22, is teaching in the Superior High School.

Pat Keeley has been practicing law in the office of his brother in Deer Lodge. They have recently formed a partnership known as Keeley and Keeley. Pat states that he hasn't much time to practice law as he is on so many committees. He is Adjutant of the American Legion, Chairman of the publicity committee for the Kiwanis Club, etc. He ran for county attorney, last fall, but, "owing to the fact that the other fellow got more votes, he wasn't elected."

Mark Derr has opened a law office in Ronan.

Felipe Valderrama will be in Missoula until he has taken the Forest Assistant Civil Service Examinations in March. About March 15 he expects to leave for Yale University, where he will take work leading to the degree of Master of Science in Forestry. After completing his course he plans to work with the Government Forestry Service in the Philippines.

A very interesting letter comes from Frank Hutchinson, who is with the Forestry Department of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company at Iroquois Falls, Ontario, Canada. He intends to finish his graduate work in Forestry at the Montana U. sometime within the next two years and then to return to his home in New Zealand.

Among the pharmacists, Hugh J. Anderson is working for the B. A. Reynolds Drug Co., in Helena; Walter Clark is at present manager of the Depot Drug Co., in Helena. He intends to go east this fall to enter a college of Dental Surgery. Cecil J. Moore is working in Fagan's Pharmacy, in Butte; Joy Allison, in Welch's Drug Store at Libby, and Ruth Johnson in the St. John Drug Store at Stevensville.

Bob McHatton travelled about the country for some time after graduation. At present he is a reporter on the City News Bureau of Chicago, covering the federal prohibition agency and the school board. The recent Chicago school board graft indictments have provided considerable excitement.

George Masters is employed as news-writer on the Butte Daily Post and is at present writing some feature stories for a South Dakota paper.

Ethel Brockway Warner is working in the office of C. B. McMath Company, Public Accountants of Spokane, as Junior Accountant. Heinie Lamb, '19, is auditor for the same company.

Lillian Goff is at present at 814 Sixth St., Santa Monica, California. She visited the University of Washington and the University of California, but says: "Give me old Montana U."

Bill Allen is attending the Harvard Law Schol. There are several Montana U. students whom he sees frequently. Ward Donlan and Phil Carrol are in the graduate business school at Harvard. Colin Clements is in the Harvard 47 Workshop, and Bill Watterscherin is attending M. I. T.

CONFERENCE OF DEANS OF WOMEN

Mrs. Harriet Rankin Sedman, '03, Dean of Women at the University of Montana, returned recently from the Conference of University Deans of Women held at Cleveland on February 26, 27, and 28. She found the conference of great value; she had the opportunity of meeting the prominent deans of women from practically every state in the Union, of discussing with them the many large problems in connection with student government, and of comparing methods and plans for improvement. She found that the University of Montana is recognized throughout the country as having a splendid opportunity for constructive work. In particular, she was congratulated on the great advantage Montana enjoys in the housing situation; the splendid residence halls make it possible to provide accommodations for all the freshman girls and a certain per cent of the upper class girls, giving them the benefit of close companionship with each other and making possible the development of a system of self-government that will carry them successfully over the later years of their college life.

Mrs. Sedman also visited the various colleges of the middle west; stopping at Oberlin, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, DuPaw, Chicago University, Northwestern, Madison and Minnesota, spending several hours at each institution, in conferences with the deans of women, student presidents and directors of residence halls.

While in Chicago, she met her old friends, Louise Hathaway Harkins, '99, and Professor William H. Harkins, whose discoveries in electricity are making him internationally famous.

ATHLETICS

ule it has had in years and much work in preparation remains to be done.

In baseball, the State University has always made a wonderful record and the outlook for a good year this season is bright. "Perk" Spencer is baseball coach, and he knows the game from start to finish and at all angles. The team has done some light work this spring, but has been handicapped. The baseball schedule, too, is a heavy one.

Seattle, Jan. 5.—Four alumni—George Scherck, '20; Marion Fergus, ex-'17; Rox Reynolds, ex-'19, and Robert Fredericks, ex-'18—are on the staff of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer; while James Frye, '17, and Lloyd Thompson, ex-'21, are employed with the Seattle Times. Reynolds is conducting a column, "The Toreador," and is well on the way to national fame.

Bill Long, '17; Ivan Merrick, '16; Thomas Davis, '16, and Charles Hickey, '18, are all making a success at law here.

The "Varsity Quartette," composed of Sheridan (pianist), Roberts, Kiff, Brown and Stowe, played here lately. They are now on a theatrical tour of Canada.

R. T. FREDERICKS.

The University Club of Missoula entertained Dr. Frank L. Schoell of Paris, at dinner on December 12. Dr. Schoell is a member of the French high commission, and came to this country in the endeavor to bring about a better understanding and closer friendship between the two countries.
